Social and Personal

M iss Edith donnan was presented to society last evening at a beautiful ball given by the Governor and Mrs. Mann in the Executive Mansion. The mansion was gay with its holiday decorations of mistle-toe and belly, and the wails and windows were draped with running cedar and smiths. Wall pockets of bright red blossoms were used in profusion, and the Blue Room, where the receiving party stord, was banked with palms and clusters of red roses.

Mrs. Mann, who received with the Governor, wore an imported gown of white chiffon, embroidered in roses, with diamond ornaments. She carried a nosegay of pink roses. Miss Donnan wore an exquisite frock of palest greer chiffon, fashioned over white satin and trimmed with a band of silver and mas finished with thy silk rosebuds, and there were touches of silver and pale pink about the bodies. She carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Donnan was handsomely gowned in pale yellow satin, with an overdress of black and silver, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty foses.

The guests included the younger members of society.

Afternoon Reception.

Mrs. Arthur Middleton Cannon and Miss Mary Waddill entertained at a very handsome reception yesterday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock in their home, 524 Park Avenue. Red roses and holly were used to decorate the parlors and library, and a centreplece of American Beauty roses on a silver placque ornamented the tea table. Scarlet bells and garlands of cedar were wound on the chandelers.

Mrs. Cannon received in a Rown of pale blue satin, veiled in black chiffon, and carried American Beauty roses. Miss Waddil wore a flame-colored frock of creps meteor, trimmed in real lace, with a bouquet of lilies assessed, the lines and pages of the commissioner's books given in each instance where they were assossed. The great majority of the other names returned by the grand jury in this list were satisfactorily explained by Mr. Anderson. The law as to making up youing lists and receiving taxes, as defined by the court, was different from the views under which Mr. Anderson and party workers on both sides had been acting in this county. The work thrown upon Mr. Anderson just at a time when he was busiest receiving taxes, or going through the records of his office, the voting and delinquent lists for the past three years has been immense, and if he had had further time other names might be satisfactorily explained. Those not explained as errors of the grand jury or otherwise were admitted by Mr. Anderson as errors of the grand jury or otherwise were admitted by Mr. Anderson as errors of his office, made either by himself or some of his deputies or clerks, flow these errors crept in Mr. Anderson was unable to explain, but stated emphatically that he had never placed on, or omitted from, either list, or received money on taxes improperly, knowingly or intentionally, and no attempt was made to contradict this statement or invalidate his testimony.

Judge Fudge, Commonwealth's Attorney of this county, who closed the case for the prosecution, stated that he hed known Mr. Anderson all his life, and that there was nothing in his life, and that there was nothing in his life, or in the evidence in the case, to cause him to doubt or question either the integrity or honesty of Mr. Anderson had acted in any instance to favor his own party, but that, so far as he knew, there were as many Democrats as Republicans, who had been improperly placed on the yoting list. There was not lift the evidence any foundation for the statement that Mr. Anderson had acted in any instance to favor his own party, but that, so far as he knew, there were as many Democrats as Republicans, who had been improperly placed on the yoting list. Robber Sent to Court.

William White, negro, was to-day sent to the Hustings Court to be tried for robbing his employer. A. Gellman of various articles of value, pistols, razors, jewelry and the like, taken at ration was not filed with the memorandum. The city attorney says the objects of the suit are twofold, to re-cover a portion of the taxes paid into the hands of the County Treasurer cept upon the payment of rent, which would be a legal waiver of certain of various articles of value, pistols, razors, jewelry and the like, taken at various times from Mr. Gellman's store. A negro yesterday attempted to pawn a pistol at Mr. Gellman's, when it was identified as one that had been stolen, and on investigation the theft was traced to White. The latter was arrested, and on searching his house the police found other pistols, razors, etc. which were identified by Mr. Gellman; also a valuable gold watch chain, valued at over $50.
